1. Danes reluctant to discuss Greenland--US Minister Marvel in Copenhagen reports that the Danish Foreign Minister continues reluctant to discuss Greenland but has remarked to Marvel, when offered an opening, that "while we owe much to America, I do not feel that we owe them the whole island of Greenland."

3. Soviets abandon penetration of Finnish industry--US Minister Hamilton reports that, [REDACTED] the danger is<sup>25X1C</sup> over that the Soviets will acquire German assets owed by Finland in the form of stocks in important Finnish industries, unless unforeseen developments occur (see Daily Summary of 24 January, item 2). Hamilton believes that early publicity in the British and Swedish press "had a salutary effect in causing the Soviets to retreat from their initial plans."

4. FRANCE: Cold wave increases new Government's difficulties--US Ambassador Caffery reports that a recent cold wave has (a) blocked deliveries of food to cities; (b) crippled industrial production; and (c) intensified the coal shortage by disrupting both rail and canal transportation. Caffery adds that the over-all result is to make the task of the new Government more difficult, and that "public confidence and morale, which showed signs of definite improvement during the brief interim of the Blum Government, is slipping again."

5. CHINA: Press reports on five-year plan "misleading" --With reference to recent press reports that Chiang Kai-shek had approved a five-year economic reconstruction plan for China, US Embassy Nanking reports that the results of inquiries it has made thus far indicate that these allegations are "misleading and premature and that implementation of the plan is now impossible owing to political instability and financial chaos." Several Government officials were "evasive" in their replies; others frankly admitted that nothing could be done "until loans from abroad can be negotiated." Moreover, there are indications that the plan is incomplete, having been drawn up before V-J Day when account could not be taken of subsequent developments regarding reparations.

THE AMERICAS

6. BOLIVIA: Effect of recent disorders --US Ambassador Flack reports that ten police officials and an "unknown number" of miners have been killed and fifty persons wounded in recent disorders in the tin-mining area of Potosi. He adds that (a) the miners reportedly were incited to attack the police by elements belonging to the Movimiento Nacional Revolucionario (the political party which was the chief support of the Villarroel dictatorship); and (b) this fact may consolidate popular support behind the present caretaker Government. The US Military Attache states that "conditions throughout the country are tense."
7. PERU: Status of trade negotiations with Argentina --A Foreign Office spokesman has told US Embassy Lima that, while no negotiations are under way for an Argentine-Peruvian commercial treaty, Argentina has advised Peru that it is "interested" in negotiating such a treaty. The Embassy adds that, according to Haya de la Torre, leader of the powerful Peruvian APRA party, Peru could now obtain an industrial loan of 100 million pesos from Argentina.

5. US views on rights in France for Rumanian airline--The State Department has authorized US Ambassador ~~Smith~~ to point out to the French that if the request of the Rumanian airline TARS to land at Paris were granted, it would enable the Soviet Government (which controls the airline) to exercise air transport rights into France without conceding reciprocal rights into Soviet territory.
  6. Rumanian predicts intensified "collisions" of East and West ideologies--Rumanian Foreign Minister Tatarescu has told US Representative Berry in Bucharest of his belief that "within the next six months there will be a headlong collision between Western and Eastern ideas that in intensity will eclipse the argument brought about by preparation of the Balkan treaties." The Foreign Minister believes that discussion of the Straits and the Danube questions will precipitate the clash.

Qualified observers in Paris doubt that Martinez Barrio, Giral's successor, will be able to form a new cabinet because the strongest leaders in exile, "who represent real forces in Spain," believe that (a) any government abroad would be as "phantom-like" as was Giral's; and (b) "far more interesting developments are taking place within Spain" where it is possible that Franco may be displaced by a combination of generals, monarchists, and members of the Democratic Alliance.

Strategy of USSR with Spanish exiles--Qualified observers have also told Embassy Paris that if Barrio does not yield to pressure from pro-Soviet exiles for a hand in the formation of a new government-in-exile, Moscow may sponsor a "government" in Prague headed by pro-Soviet ex-Premier Juan Negrin.

8. NORWAY: Policy toward revision of Svalbard treaty--Foreign Minister Lange has told US Ambassador Bay that the Norwegian Government expects to inform the USSR that (a) in the light of the UN Charter, the situation (regarding Spitzbergen and the 1920 Svalbard Treaty) "is different today"; (b) in conformity with the Charter, Norway's policy is "opposed to bilateral military action" with any other power; and (c) though satisfied with the status quo, Norway would not oppose in principle any Soviet request that the treaty be submitted to the signatories.
9. FRANCE: Possible transfer of DP's from US Zone to France--Foreign Minister Bidault has told US Ambassador Caffery that he thinks it a sound idea for France to accept DP's from the US Zone Germany for permanent resettlement on a large scale. Although the Communists and the CGT will fight the plan, Bidault believes that with Socialist help he may be able "to do something about it."

10. CHINA: Government resists UNRRA distribution to Communist areas--According to the State Department's liaison officer to UNRRA in China, recent discussions between officials of UNRRA, CNRRA, and the Central Government indicate that the Government is determined to resist any substantial distribution of UNRRA supplies to Communist areas.
Change in Sinkiang Government--US Embassy Nanking has been reliably informed that the Generalissimo has advised General Chang Chih-chung that he is to be replaced as governor of Sinkiang. The Embassy comments that (a) Chang, who has been outspokenly critical of Central Government policy in Sinkiang Province, has won the confidence of the non-Chinese population, and (b) his removal will only increase "bitter skepticism" of Chinese intentions even though he may be succeeded by the leading Chinese Mohammedan, Pai Chung-hsi (now Minister of Defense).

3. FRANCE: Bidault to support alliance with UK--Foreign Minister Bidault has told US Ambassador Caffery that (a) he will conclude the Anglo-French alliance, though he regrets that Blum agreed to the alliance before the UK agreed to support France regarding Germany; (b) the French Communists will offer to endorse the alliance provided they are given "concessions" elsewhere; and (c) he fears that at the Moscow Conference the USSR will make great strides in its plan for a central German government under Soviet dominance. Communist Ministers a threat to new Cabinet--Bidault also told Caffery that the Communist Ministers in the new Government are fighting the other Ministers at every step, and that unless the Soviets "change their directives" to the French Communist Party, the present Government will not "last very long." Bidault said that his efforts to work with the Communists had been useless, and singled out Billoux (Minister of National Defense) as an "extremely dangerous Communist militant" who "bodes no good for the French Army."

Caffery adds that "while Bidault's principles are basically anti-Communist," personal ambition may cause him to compromise. He warns that (a) the Secretary will by no means always be able to count on Bidault at the Moscow Conference; and (b) it is difficult to know in advance when Bidault is going to "compromise" on one of his anti-Communist principles.

4. ITALY: Probable three-party coalition government--According to US Embassy Rome, "present indications are that De Gasperi, Nenni and Togliatti are composing their differences, and the outlook for a coalition government of at least three of the largest parties has taken a sudden favorable turn."

Abolition of Allied Commission for Italy--The Allied Forces Headquarters, Caserta, reports that the Allied Commission for Italy will be abolished at 2359 hours on 31 January (see Daily Summary of 18 January, item 3).

5. GREECE: US understanding solicited for new Government--The political adviser to King George has asked US Ambassador MacVeagh for "understanding and support for" the new Greek Government. He declared that, although the Government is unlikely to survive long, because Greek coalitions "are always unstable," it may "tide the country over a difficult period and lead to better things." Later, Prime Minister Maximos asked MacVeagh to inform the US Government that his sole reasons for accepting the Premiership are to compromise as much as possible with the Opposition and to correct "certain measures taken in the contrary sense." MacVeagh believes that a statement by the State Department welcoming the "broad loyal coalition" would be helpful.

Former Regent discusses Greek problems--In a conversation with Ambassador MacVeagh and Paul Porter (Chief of the US Economic Mission to Greece) [REDACTED] has declared that

(a) Greece's greatest need is a coordinated economic program designed to utilize available assets augmented by such additional financial assistance as may be required; (b) outside financial assistance should be carefully and consistently controlled by the "donors;" (c) economic recovery depends on the pacification of the country, which can be achieved only through a policy of amnesty implemented by real tolerance and even protection for those who lay down their arms; (d) "the existence of organized subversive elements under international Communist leadership unamenable to amnesty necessitates temporary maintenance of an army on an uneconomic scale;" and (e) the new coalition Cabinet is a hopeful step forward rather than a solution for Greece's troubles.

NEAR EAST-AFRICA

6. IRAN: Views on Soviet oil concession--The Shah has informed US Ambassador Allen of "another urgent suggestion" from Ambassador Ala in Washington that the Government (a) propose international development of all Iranian oil (including the UK concession) under UN supervision; and (b) avoid a bilateral agreement with the USSR "under any circumstances." Allen believes that the Iranians would probably attempt an international settlement, if the US gave them encouragement. He has explained to the Shah that the US could not concur in any attack against established concessions.

The Shah, who would much prefer not to enter into any oil agreement with the USSR, favors limiting the territory to be specified in the Soviet agreement to a very small area to be defined after two years of exploration. The Shah considers it "unthinkable" to allow Soviet technicians to "wander freely" over the five northern provinces during the fifty-year life of the agreement.

As payment for this US$20,000,000 transaction, the Chinese would be interested only in readily usable foreign exchange or possibly raw cotton. Otherwise, they indicated the sugar would be disposed of on the "more profitable" domestic market.

1. Embassy Moscow sees "ineptitude" in Soviet tactics toward UK--US
Embassy Moscow believes that Stalin's efforts to isolate the US and "high-pressure" the British into a new treaty with the USSR were characterized by a "surprising ineptitude." PRAVDA's charge that Bevin had been unfaithful to the present treaty is viewed by the Embassy as a clumsy and obvious appeal to the opposition in the British Labor Party to force Bevin out and demand that he be replaced by someone who would "get along with the USSR." These tactics, according to the Embassy, suggest that the Kremlin may be prompted by a sense of anxious urgency to split Anglo-US solidarity prior to CFM consideration of the crucial German problem.

3. Soviet attitude on Austrian peace treaty--General Clark reports from London that Austrian Foreign Minister Gruber has been told by Soviet Deputy Gusev that (a) "no reference could be made to German assets in the Austrian Treaty," because the USSR regards the matter as settled by the Potsdam Agreement; and (b) the USSR refuses to discuss the "entire question" of German foreign assets in Austria at the meeting of the CFM's Deputies. Clark adds that, in Gruber's opinion, the Soviets will not withdraw their forces until this question is solved on a "purely bilateral basis."

5. ITALY: Nenni allegedly refuses to join new government--US Charge
Key has learned [REDACTED] that Pietro Nenni (leader of the Italian Socialist Party) will "not participate in the new government," because he does not wish his Party "to be associated with the signature of the peace treaty." While Key finds it "difficult to evaluate the true import of this statement," he suggests that it "may have been made for bargaining purposes with the Christian Democrats."

Navy may scuttle ships--US Naval Attache Rome reports a conversation between Admiral Maugeri, Chief of Staff of the Italian Navy, and Captain C.G. Mentz, USN, in which the Admiral expressed the opinion that the Italian Navy would scuttle its ships regardless of the consequences if the transfer involved a formal ceremony and hauling down of colors. (On 9 November 1946 US Naval Attache Rome recommended that the Italian ships should be de-commissioned prior to their transfer in order to safeguard against this danger; see Daily Summary of 12 November 1946, item 6.)

6. GERMANY: Possible economic unity among French-US-UK Zones--US
Political Observer Mayer reports from Baden-Baden that the Political Chief of General Koenig's staff "intimated" on 22 January that the French would soon take steps "to unite their zone economically with the US-UK zones."

French desire independent Saar--Acting US Political Adviser
Muccio reports from Frankfurt his impression that the "belief is growing" among French officials that the "best solution of the Saar problem would be to establish the Saar as an independent state linked to France by ties similar to those between Luxembourg and Belgium." The French profess a belief that "no serious opposition" to this plan will be offered at the Moscow Council of Foreign Ministers, and that it will be possible to carry out their plans immediately thereafter.

7. ### FAR EAST

8. JAPAN: FEC policy decision on "peaceful needs" of Japan--On 23 January the Far Eastern Commission unanimously decided that peaceful needs of Japanese people should be defined as substantially the standard of living prevailing during 1930-1934. This decision, however, does not commit the FEC to acceptance, in advance, of a specific level for any particular industry.

(CIG Comment: This determination of the peaceful needs of Japan clears the way for the adoption of a definitive reparations policy.)

9. INDOCHINA: Policy of French government--In a conversation with US Ambassador Caffery, [REDACTED] revealed that 25X1X the Communist Ministers will support the Indochina policy of the new French Government. He stated that this policy would become more "supple" and conciliatory and that efforts would be made to find some meeting ground with Vietnam.
10. 1. Embassy Moscow warns of Soviet domination of German unions--US Embassy Moscow regards the current campaign of the World Federation of Trade Unions to seize exclusive guardianship of German trade unions as a Soviet maneuver designed to create one of the conditions under which the USSR could accept the establishment of a central German Government. (For the Embassy's views on Soviet objectives in Germany see Daily Summary of 9 January, item 3.) The Embassy warns that US failure to resist this "transparent Soviet tactic" would have "far-reaching implications."
2. Soviet forces in Poland reduced--US Military Attache Warsaw reports that, [REDACTED] there has been a further sharp reduction in the number of Soviet troops in Poland. Only skeleton garrisons remain in the southern and southeastern parts of the country; while in eastern, northeastern and central areas, the number of troops is "small." The greatest concentration is still in the west and northwest. The MA now estimates total Soviet strength in Poland at 100-120,000 men. (The previous estimate was 200,000; see "Strength and Disposition of Soviet Occupation Forces in Europe," Weekly Summary of 29 November 1946.)

5. HUNGARY: Attempt to involve political leaders in conspiracy--US Delegate Allied Control Commission reports that, according to "reliable reports and his own observations," the Communists are now attempting to use the conspiracy case (see Weekly Summary of 17 January, p. 6) to implicate: Bela Kovacs, Secretary General of the Smallholders' Party and close political friend of Premier Nagy; Bela Varga, President of the National Assembly; Karoly Baranyos, Minister of Agriculture; and Imre Kovacs, leader of a National Peasant Party faction which advocates fusion with the Smallholders.

(CIC Comment: The Communists have thus far implicated relatively minor members of the Smallholders' Party in their conspiracy investigations. The men mentioned above are among the most influential in Hungarian politics, and, if the Communists succeed in involving them in the plot, disintegration of the Smallholders' Party might result.)

Soviet attitude toward conspiracy--

5X1X

General Swiridov, Soviet acting chairman of the Allied Control Commission, recently reproached Hungarian Communist leaders for exaggerating the importance of the alleged conspiracy.

Nagy may be ready to take stand against Communists--Prime Minister Nagy has told US Minister Schoenfeld that his policy of appeasement toward the Communists during the past year was "justified because of the opportunity it afforded in the economic field," but he realizes that such a policy cannot be continued indefinitely. Nagy said that a "stand would have to be made at some point," and it would probably be against the current Communist attempt to use the conspiracy investigation to destroy the Smallholder majority in the National Assembly.

6. RUMANIA: Food situation--Coincident with Rumania's appeal to the International Emergency Food Council for emergency shipments of 1,000,000 tons of corn, [REDACTED] has told US Representative Berry that between 1 September and 1 December the Rumanian Government exported 50,000 carloads of cereals which were shipped via Poland to the USSR. The Embassy emphasizes that there is no indication of any transactions or plans for sale of Czechoslovak arms or munitions to any of the American Republics. Considerable research is under way aimed at future integration with the Soviet arms industry, but production plans are still in a "very early stage."
8. ITALY: Foreign pressure to sign peace treaty sought--US Charge Key reports that Admiral Stone gained the impression during a recent interview with Provisional President Enrico De Nicola that De Nicola was seeking pressure from abroad which would offer the Italian Government an excuse to give the Italian people for signing the peace treaty. Key has been informed by other sources that De Gasperi is finding it difficult to form a new government, because the "majority of the political Parties" are unwilling to participate in a government which will have to sign the treaty. Key again recommends that any US pressure in this matter should be exerted only in concert with the other Big Four powers. (See Daily Summary of 23 January, item 8.)

11. NEI: US Consul-General's views on Indonesian Republic--US Consul General Foote reports that he concurs with the views [REDACTED]

25X1X

[REDACTED] (see Daily Summary of 25 January, Item 6) that the Cheribon Agreement cannot be carried out unless the present attitude of Republican leaders is reversed and military extremists brought under control. Foote asserts that leadership in the Republic appears to be passing to the extremists, whom he believes responsible for most of the truce violations that have occurred. In view of the increased strength of Dutch forces, Foote believes a Dutch military victory would be "easy." However, he considers a Dutch offensive against Republican extremists unlikely except as a last resort, because of the restraining influence of world opinion now directed against the French in Indochina, and the presence of at least 190,000 internees in Republican territory.

Foote feels that US attitude on the Indonesian question should be re-examined in view of the increased terrorism, bad faith, and authoritarianism of Republican authorities. A further weakening of European influence in Java and Sumatra, he believes, would facilitate Chinese economic control of the area with resulting Indonesian reactions capable of jeopardizing US interests and general security in Southeast Asia.

12. KOREA: Anti-trusteeship resolution passed by Assembly--General Hodge reports that the Interim Legislative Assembly of South Korea has passed, by a vote of 44 to 1, a resolution "on behalf of 30 million people" condemning the trusteeship clause of the Moscow Decision. 1. CZECHOSLOVAKIA: Communist popularity on decline--According to US Embassy Prague, Czech Communists are gradually but definitely losing popularity. Slovak Communists, weaker but more militant than their Czech comrades, are facing a similar loss of support and are becoming increasingly aggressive and obstructionist in an effort to forestall this trend.
2. HUNGARY: US concern over Communist tactics--The State Department has informed US Legation Bucharest, of its concern over present Communist tactics, which seem aimed at replacing the present democratic Government before the Peace Treaty becomes effective and Soviet troops consequently are withdrawn. The Department therefore desires to give support to the democratic elements through economic aid to Hungary, and requests the Legation's suggestions as to political steps which would prevent further deterioration of the situation.
3. FRANCE: New coalition cabinet--Premier Ramadiers' wide Coalition Ministry includes 9 Socialists, 5 Communists, 5 MRP members, 5 Radical Socialists and 2 Independent Republicans. Billoux, a Communist, has become Minister of National Defense with the restriction that he must leave effective measures of control to the Premier and the three separate service Ministries. US Military Attache Paris comments that, with the formation of this Cabinet, the French Government ceases to be "Provisional" and becomes the Fourth Republic. Although the general political situation is unstable, the MA points out that no Party wishes to take responsibility for precipitating a crisis and that the new Constitution, now operative, provides against hasty decisions likely to provoke ministerial crises.

US concurs in proposal on POWs--The US State Department has concurred in the French proposal (see Daily Summary of 18 January, item 5) that the International Red Cross participate in the plan whereby prisoners of war (transferred by the US to the French) be given the opportunity of remaining in France. The US stipulates that (a) those waiving repatriation do so in writing attested to by representatives of the French Government and the Red Cross and that true copies of these waivers be made available to US authorities, and (b) each POW be informed of his exact status (that of a worker) while remaining in France.

7. ARGENTINA: Views on liquidation of German firms--US Embassy Buenos Aires expresses the opinion that "the action provided for in" the Argentine Government's recent decree regarding liquidation of enemy firms "constitutes reasonable and substantial compliance with the Act of Chapultepec, insofar as enemy property is concerned."
8. BOLIVIA: Effect of tin price on Bolivian economic and political stability-- US Ambassador Flack reports that the Bolivian Junta Government is depressed at the slim prospect for any increase in the price of tin, and adds his belief that (a) the question of the tin price is inescapably tied up with Bolivia's internal economy and public order; and (b) unless a sufficient increase is granted to offset the increased cost of imported foodstuffs, the new Bolivian Government (recently elected, to take office soon) will be faced with a "difficult situation" particularly with regard to "mining labor." Flack recommends that the tin question be considered in the light of over-all US relations with Bolivia and the US desire to stimulate the democratic institutions which have emerged since the revolution of July 1946.

2. Soviet move to penetrate Finnish industry--

[REDACTED] a Soviet proposal that one-half of the German assets, valued at six billion marks, which Finland owes the USSR be made available to the USSR in the form of stocks in Finnish industrial enterprises at their 1944 valuation (which is much lower than at present). The Finnish Government, according to source, will not agree to this proposal.

3. USSR: Apparent stockpiling of foodstuffs--US Embassy Moscow reports that recently released Soviet figures indicate increased commercial production of meats, fats, fish, and bakery goods, but show 1946 grain and sugar beet crops as substantially below those of 1945. Soviet authorities blame this latter condition on the drought, and point to it as justification for the continuation of rationing. The Embassy suspects, however, that the true reason for the continuation of rationing is the Soviet desire to build up food reserves, and that the official policy of placing the blame on the drought is designed to offer a satisfactory explanation to the Soviet people and to support the Kremlin's desire for relief from abroad.
4. FRANCE: Investigation of thefts from Ministry of War Veterans' files--US Ambassador Caffery reports as "probably significant" that the Socialist Minister of War Veterans in the recent Blum Cabinet has taken legal action to investigate the "removal of official documents" from this Ministry's files. 1. South Africa to disregard GA resolution--US Minister to South Africa reports that General Smuts, in a public address, announced that South Africa will continue to administer Southwest Africa and will decline to submit a trusteeship agreement, notwithstanding the request made by the General Assembly last December. Smuts expressed himself as "a little afraid of the Trusteeship Council." Referring to South Africa's treatment of her Indian minority--which the General Assembly condemned at the same time--Smuts said that South African legislation restricting Indian land tenure must stand.

(CIG Comment: This open disregard of the opinion of the General Assembly by a nation closely associated with the Western bloc has major implications regarding the future effectiveness of the UN, and might provide a precedent for similar Soviet action.)

France and USSR discussing air agreement--US Ambassador Caffery in Paris reports that the Soviet Embassy has advised the Foreign Minister "suddenly and without warning" of Soviet willingness to undertake negotiations for an air agreement. [REDACTED] that the Soviet Chairman ACC, without informing the US or UK delegates, has notified the Hungarian Foreign Office that the ACC does not object to the resumption of diplomatic relations between Austria and Hungary. (The Soviets previously had been reported as opposed to such a step; see Daily Summary of 13 January, item 5.)

6. Developments concerning Rio Conference--According to US Embassy Bogota, the Colombian Foreign Minister has asked "other Latin American countries" to express an opinion regarding the advisability of holding the Rio Conference before the Pan American Conference, scheduled to meet at Bogota in 1947. The Minister has advised the Embassy that the only two countries submitting unequivocal replies to date favor holding the Rio Conference.

According to US Embassy La Paz, the Colombian Minister to Bolivia has inquired officially whether Bolivia would attend the Rio Conference "at an early date" if invited to do so by "another power." The Bolivian Foreign Office has asked for an expression of US views.

US Military Attache Rio de Janeiro reports that the Brazilian Government has denied a Buenos Aires press report which stated that the Rio Conference might be held in March (see Daily Summary of 21 January, item 9).

7. FRANCE: Communist "packing" in French Veterans' Administration--US Ambassador Caffery reports that the week-old strike by employees of the Ministry of War Veterans is a protest against a Socialist attempt to "purge" Communists holding key positions in various Socialist ministries and to eliminate the very large number of employees performing no useful work. Caffery adds that the War Veterans' Ministry is a flagrant example of Communist "packing" and that the Socialists hope an airing of this "crying scandal" may produce some beneficial effect and may embarrass the Communists. 8. ITALY: Yugoslavs may not sign peace treaty--According to US Charge Key, De Gasperi told Admiral Stone that on the basis of all the information he has, the Yugoslavs will not sign the Italian peace treaty. De Gasperi also expressed the opinion that Italy will probably not sign the treaty voluntarily.

(CIG Comment: The Yugoslavs, although reluctant, will probably sign under Soviet pressure. CIG believes that the Italians will sign because non-signature may jeopardize the continuance of foreign (particularly US) aid, may prolong undesirable occupational burdens, and may prevent Italy's reentry into the family of nations.)

25X1C "Irregularity" of Italian note on peace treaty--Key has been informed  that the 20 January Italian note to representatives of the Big Four regarding possible revision by bilateral negotiation of the Italian peace treaty was drafted "in (the) name of Foreign Minister and not in (the) name of Italian Government." De Gasperi expressed the view that the action, coming after Nenni's resignation, was "somewhat irregular."

(CIG Comment: As the desire for revision of the terms of the Italian peace treaty is general among Italian officials, it is unlikely that there will be an official disclaimer of the note unless reaction to it proves seriously embarrassing to the Italian Government.)

25X6

Significance of Soviet withdrawal from Allied Commission--Key also reports that the hasty Soviet withdrawal from both the Allied Commission and the Advisory Council for Italy may indicate prior knowledge of Italian opposition to signing the peace treaty (see Daily Summary of 18 January, item 3). It also may mean, Key adds, a Soviet attempt to avoid the responsibility of compelling Italy to sign the treaty through pressure on the part of the Advisory Council or the Supreme Allied Commander. Key therefore recommends that further pressure by the US on the Italian Government in this matter should be exerted only in conjunction with the other Big Four powers.

1. Dairen courier ship test expected Thursday--US Ambassador Smith in Moscow agrees with Embassy Nanking that courier ship service to Dairen should remain on a basis of notification (to the Soviet Embassy Nanking and Consulate General Shanghai; see Daily Summary of 20 January, item 1) and strongly advises against transmission of either notification or request through Embassy Moscow. Smith points out that the US "consistently resisted pressure for such a procedure regarding the Balkans;" he is convinced that Soviet authorities should not be allowed to "get away with it" in the Far East where the US bargaining position is far stronger. He believes pointed tightening of restrictions on Soviet traffic into Japan will be far more persuasive than argument.

Admiral Cooke reports that he will send the courier ship as scheduled, and has instructed Commander Yates (a) to make every effort in a "friendly but firm manner" to complete the mission; but (b) if local Soviet authorities deny permission to land the diplomatic courier, the vessel shall remain in Dairen harbor or at the twelve-mile limit awaiting Cooke's instructions.

9. DENMARK: Mission fails to conclude air agreement with USSR--
US Legation Copenhagen reports that the Danish Air Mission to Moscow has failed to conclude an air agreement and is returning home. A Danish proposal, with Finnish concurrence, for an exchange of traffic with the USSR at Helsinki was rejected, and permission for Danish aircraft to fly over Finland was denied by the Soviet Government. The Danes rejected a Soviet proposal for an exchange at Memel for east-bound traffic, with Copenhagen as the terminus for westbound Soviet aircraft.

(CIG Comment: The Finnish Peace Treaty, scheduled to be signed next month, accords to all UN members the right to fly over and make non-commercial landings in Finland; it would therefore permit Danish planes to land at Helsinki.)

10. CZECHOSLOVAKIA: New elections reportedly scheduled for April--
US Military Attache Prague considers as "probably true" a report [REDACTED] that all parties except the National Socialists have formally agreed to new elections in the Spring, probably in April. The MA adds that, according to the Czech equivalent of the Gallup Poll, if elections were held today, the Communists would lose 25 of their 114 seats in Parliament. The source believes that by April, the Communists might fall from first to third place, and that they agreed to new elections only after the Social Democrats threatened to oppose all forms of socialization unless new elections were held.

11. GREECE: US views on coalition Government--The State Department, in a new effort to bring about political stability in Greece, has elaborated to Ambassador MacVeagh its views as to how a desirable coalition government might be formed, and has empowered him to communicate these views to Premier Tsaldaris. The Department stresses that US public opinion will not favor extension of US aid to a Government which lacks wide popular support. The Department points out that, although the US cannot make specific suggestions, the dangerous situation resulting from extremist Left-Wing efforts to undermine Greek political independence and territorial integrity might be remedied by formation of a broad coalition government of patriotic groups willing to cooperate in face of national danger. Such a Government might be formed under the initial leadership of a non-partisan figure such as the former Regent, Archbishop Damaskinos. 12. INDIA: Soviet influence on Interim Government discounted--Embassy New Delhi, reporting denials by Nehru and Mrs. Pandit of John Foster Dulles' allegation that the Indian Interim Government is subject to strong Soviet influence, states that it has observed no indication of such influence. Soong has agreed in principle to an arrangement whereby the US Army and Navy can purchase, at special exchange rates, CN dollars to meet expenditures in China (see Daily Summary of 16 January, item 6). Soong insists that the matter be kept secret.

The Department feels that any such suggestion would be interpreted by the Soviets as an admission that the system founded upon the Montreux Convention and the UN does not provide adequate security. The USSR would then insist again that defense of the Straits should be by the Black Sea Powers only. The Department believes the Soviets would not accept any arrangement which prevents them from unilaterally assuming control of the Straits whenever they decide it is to their advantage to do so.

1. Soviets stress "permission" for courier ships at Dairen--The Soviet Consul in Dairen has told US Consul-General Benninghoff that, as Dairen is "still a closed port," a US "request" for clearance of a courier ship should be made to the Soviet Foreign Office by US Embassy Moscow "about a week" before expected date of arrival. Benninghoff notes that though the general situation has not changed in nine months, the emphasis is now on "permission" rather than "notification." The next courier ship is scheduled to arrive in Dairen 23 January. Admiral Cooke reports that US authorities in China are following the previous procedure of "notifying" the Soviet Embassy Nanking and Consulate General Shanghai only a few days in advance.
2. Gromyko seeks US publicity for Soviet atomic policy--Herschel Johnson, Acting US representative in the Security Council, reports that Gromyko, in a surprise move, called in NEW YORK POST correspondent Hohenberg in an apparent effort to obtain publicity for official Soviet views on atomic energy control and disarmament. Gromyko declared that the USSR desires two conventions on atomic energy: the first to prohibit the use of atomic weapons, and the second to formulate Molotov's views as expressed to the General Assembly, including inspection and control. Gromyko insisted that veto on punishment was irrelevant because "violations of this magnitude would mean war anyway." He indicated that while both conventions might progress simultaneously, "the first convention would and should be concluded first." Gromyko was confident that "everybody on the SC except the US" supported the Soviet position. Subsequently the POST correspondent received a telephone call from Lange, Polish representative to the UN, pressing him for an interview.

5. FRANCE: Offer of repatriation to German prisoners--US Ambassador Caffery reports that in the two hours between Blum's return from London and his departure for Versailles for the presidential elections he signed a note to the US, in reply to the US note informing France of the US decision to begin immediately the repatriation of German prisoners of war remaining in US custody or transferred by the US to liberated nations (see Daily Summary of 2 December, item 1). Blum's note asserts that France now intends to offer the German prisoners, who were transferred to French control by the US command, the choice of (a) repatriation to Germany or (b) remaining voluntarily in France with a status similar to that of French workers. France proposes to invite the International Committee of the Red Cross to designate representatives on the commission which will make the offer to these prisoners.

6. KOREA: Growing unrest may lead to Korean revolt--In a summary of conditions in South Korea, General Hodge reports that "the rapidly growing unrest and impatience of all Koreans...may easily bring on a general revolution, with participation by both the Right and Left." The Koreans are abandoning hopes that US-Soviet negotiations for a Joint Commission will be successful, and the feeling is growing that Korea is being sacrificed "as a pawn in the international game."

The economic situation, despite some improvement in the food outlook, is growing steadily worse, and any recovery depends on the importation of necessary raw materials, industrial equipment, consumer goods, food, and fertilizers. An electric power shortage may develop due to the steadily decreasing supply of power from the Soviet zone.

Hodge adds that, in the political field, a more moderate middle group may emerge as a result of US-endorsed efforts to obtain a coalition. The extreme Leftists and extreme Rightists, however, are becoming more active and more vocal against the occupation. Hodge doubts that the Soviets intend to reopen Joint Commission negotiations and urgently recommends that the US plan "a positive line of action."

7. CHINA: Split in Communist Party improbable--US Embassy Nanking reports that a split in the Chinese Communist Party is "most improbable" at present because failure to maintain a solid front would inevitably insure the Party's destruction. Reports of cleavages have recently been given US correspondents for their "confidential" information by Government officials and have appeared in the pro-KMT press. The Embassy comments, however, that the Central Government can be expected to foster this belief because Nationalist elimination of heterogeneous factions might be more palatable abroad than an all-out offensive to eliminate an organized opposition party.

INDOCHINA: Possibility of Laos and Cambodian uprisings--US Consul Saigon reports [REDACTED] the possibility of an uprising by Free Laos and Free Cambodian groups, in view of the diversion of large numbers of French troops from southern and western Indochina to the area of fighting in the north. The French have failed to pursue the conciliatory conversations held with Free Laos groups last November before Siamese border territories were retroceded to Indochina. The chief French participant in these talks has said that this neglect may prove to be "disastrous."

The plan, announcement of which would be accompanied by a statement that the US "contemplates doing certain things that will be of assistance to Panama," would involve (a) occupation of the bases for one year under joint trusteeship of General Crittenger and a Panamanian cabinet minister; (b) returning the bases to Panama "symbolically," to mark supersession of the old agreement by the new, after a "short interval" during which neither agreement would be in effect; and (c) protection of US property and installations during the interval by "such detachments" as the Commanding General may deem "necessary."

5. BULGARIA: Communists worried about Soviet withdrawal--US Representative Barnes believes that the current press campaign by the Communist-dominated Fatherland Front to eject the Opposition from the Assembly, coupled with strong Government threats to force peasants to deliver their food quotas, represents an attempt to frighten the people into submission before Soviet forces leave Bulgaria. According to Barnes, the Communists, realizing that the people fear Soviet troops more than they do the Bulgarian security police, have "important misgivings" about what will confront them when the Soviets leave. Barnes therefore expects an increase in political terror.
6. RUMANIA: Food shortages may lead to civic disturbances--According to the US Delegate to the Allied Control Council, "civic disturbances" may be anticipated as a result of increasing food shortages unless "relief is available soon." The Delegate reports that a 65% cut in rail transportation has restricted the transfer of persons from famine areas to those with more adequate stocks and has curtailed food shipments to urban areas. Food and transportation shortages are also causing serious labor difficulties.

8. CHINA: Generalissimo seeks to resume peace negotiations--The Generalissimo has shown US Ambassador Stuart four points agreed to by Government leaders for reopening negotiations with the Communists: (a) renewal of negotiations, either bilaterally in Yenan or Nanking, or at an inter-party conference; (b) an immediate cease-fire order on both sides with a conference to provide for effective implementation; (c) discussion of practical plans for reorganization of the Army and restoration of communications; and (d) an agreement for a "just and reasonable" solution to the issue of political control of disputed areas.

The Generalissimo requested that Stuart find out whether the Communist Party would invite a Government delegation to Yenan, but asked him not to disclose the four points. Stuart was authorized to reply to possible Communist inquiries that the Government attached no conditions to the peace discussions and hoped that, through a discussion of all outstanding issues, unfettered by terms, a settlement could be reached. Ambassador Stuart conveyed the Generalissimo's message to the Communist representative in Nanking on 16 January.

Although Berry does not give "much credence" to a voluntary withdrawal from power by the Communists, he asserts that the persistence of such rumors is important as evidence of the popular will and of the increasing passive resistance to the administration. 6. CHINA: US seeks special rate for official currency purchases--The State and Treasury Departments have instructed US Ambassador Stuart and US Treasury Attache Nanking to make an immediate official request to the Chinese for a special exchange rate, approximating the current open-market US banknote rate, to apply to US Army and Navy purchases of CN dollars. (Purchases at the official rate, which greatly overvalues the CN dollar in terms of both the US dollar and the internal price structure in China, require abnormal appropriations of US dollars.)

In negotiating for a special rate, the US officials are instructed not to discuss the US $500,000,000 Eximbank loan or a post-UNRRA grant, because the "status of these matters does not permit encouraging Chinese expectations."

Chinese tactics jeopardize US property rights--US Embassy Nanking believes that the Chinese Government, in setting time limits for the registration of real property rights in China by US nationals, is misinterpreting the Sino-US 1943 treaty which abolishes US extra-territoriality. Although the Embassy feels that the treaty provides that existing property rights cannot be rendered void, the Chinese Foreign Office has indicated informally that land in certain areas not registered before 31 January will be considered "theoretically ownerless and subject to nationalization."

9. USSR: Embassy comments on internal conditions--According to US Embassy Moscow, the USSR is experiencing serious economic and morale difficulties. The Embassy believes that, in drafting the current Five-Year Plan, the Kremlin misjudged the temper of the people and their ability to bear further sacrifice, and now is forced to revise its program by diverting a larger share of the national effort to the production of consumer goods. While this development has been accompanied by the adoption of a less aggressive Soviet foreign policy, the Embassy sees no sign of a change in the Kremlin's long-range external objectives. Recent moves are interpreted rather as a temporary retreat to gain time for the consolidation of present positions at home and abroad in order that full advantage may be taken of such future opportunities as may become available for the extension of Soviet influence.

Soviet attitude toward disarmament--In commenting on the Soviet attitude toward armament reduction, US Military Attache Moscow observes that, although the people of the Soviet Union are more concerned with food than with arms, and although Soviet economic and manpower resources will be strained to support a large military force, Kremlin thinking continues to be dominated by a fear of "capitalist encirclement." For this reason, while Soviet leaders can afford to press for a general reduction in armaments, it is safe to assume that they will demand, for the USSR at least, a numerical military superiority over any possible combination of Western Powers.

to quadripartite control of currency printing. Previously it had been assumed, Murphy adds, that the USSR, with its strictly controlled zonal economy, has had time on its side in considering the problem of currency reform.

(CIG Comment: Unilateral Soviet mass printing of currency at Leipzig has been reported in the past (see Daily Summary of 18 December 1946, item 4). US representatives therefore have been reluctant to accept other than a central and readily controlled printing establishment. The above report significantly implies an actual Soviet fear that the US-UK zonal merger in effect may "write off" the Soviet Zone, leaving it stripped by reparations and unable to profit from the rehabilitated Western zone economy.)

7. ITALY: Possible repercussions of Allied disposal of DPs--US Charge Key recommends that immediate steps be taken to care for the approximately 105,000 DPs now in Allied camps in Italy (see Daily Summary of 8 January, item 4). Key points out that "dumping" of DPs on the Italian Government by the US and UK would lead to most unfavorable repercussions on US and UK relations with Italy, and the inevitable return by Italy of these DPs to their countries of origin. The US and UK, Key adds, would be blamed for this Italian action and the subsequent fate of these DPs.
8. AUSTRIA: Soviet view of Austrian proposals--US Minister Erhardt re-ports that the acting Soviet Political Adviser recently characterized the Austrian proposals for settlement of the German assets question in Eastern Austria as "very naive" and not deserving "serious consideration".

The Department does not consider itself the proper channel for transmission of memoranda from such groups to the Security Council (see Daily Summary of 9 January 1947, item 1).
2. France declines US offer of good offices in Indochina--The Counselor of the French Embassy in Washington, has informed the State Department that his Government will not avail itself of US "good offices" but will continue to handle the Indochina situation "singlehandedly." The State Department has expressed to Embassy Paris the hope that this does not represent a definitive French intention to regard the problem as purely internal, and notes that "less dangerous situations have been raised in the SC in the past."
3. Priority for Baruch proposal lacks necessary SC support--Herschel Johnson, US representative to the Security Council, reports that the US resolution calling for immediate consideration of the Atomic Energy Commission report has no chance of obtaining the necessary support. The five representatives on the Security Council, who have already expressed their views, have indicated that they will "not oppose the proposal for a commission to discuss general regulation of armaments concurrently" with continued discussions in the AEC. The representatives consulted by Johnson unanimously feel that it is "politically impossible" to support the US position. The Columbian delegate believes that the USSR "could probably be brought to accept" the US concept of atomic priority, if the US yields on concurrent discussion. 25X6

9. INDOCHINA: Vietnam may seek Chinese intervention--US Consul Hanoi reports that the Vietnam Government apparently is working for Chinese intervention. Vietnam forces are taking every precaution to protect the lives and property of Chinese and other foreign nationals in areas of fighting. Moreover, the Chinese Consul General has become critical of the French inability to safeguard Chinese nationals in Tonkin. The tone of the Vietnam broadcasts has recently become conciliatory toward China, in marked contrast to the Vietnam resentment of Chinese occupying forces in 1945-46.
10. PHILIPPINES: Roxas reiterates position on US troops--US Ambassador McNutt reports that Mr. H.E. Beyster, who is under contract to the Philippine Government, has informed Roxas that President Truman and Secretary Patterson assured him that all US troops would be out of the Philippines in sixty days. Roxas desires it to be known that Beyster was not authorized to make any representations on this subject and that removal of US troops from all the Philippines does not correspond in any way to his (Roxas') wishes.

1. Indochinese groups appealing for UN intervention--US Minister Stanton in Bangkok reports that representatives of the Free Laos, Free Cambodians, and Vietnam have drawn up a memorandum setting forth their hopes for ultimate independence and a federation of Southeast Asia states, and appealing for immediate intervention by the UN in the situation in Indochina. Stanton has told the representatives that he will endeavor to see that this document reaches the Secretary-General of the UN through the US Legation. Meanwhile, Free Laos and Free Cambodian leaders have left Bangkok for their respective provinces. Stanton expects that these leaders will take advantage of the opportunity afforded by French involvement in Tonkin to achieve their aspirations by attacking the French in their respective areas. Stanton feels that, because the sympathies of all other Southeast Asian countries lie with Vietnam, hostilities in Indochina directly affect the peace of Southeast Asia and create a situation definitely within the purview of the UN and the Security Council.
2. Czechs in Germany act as cover for Soviet intelligence--US Embassy Prague recommends as an additional condition for the proposed establishment of consulates in US Zone Germany by non-ex-enemy states that all Missions already operating in the Zone be withdrawn. The Embassy points out that (a) Czechoslovakia maintains a great many heavily staffed Missions in the US Zone, and (b) "it is no secret in Prague" that these Missions "have been and are being utilized as a cover for Soviet intelligence activities."
3. Embassy Moscow comments on Soviet objectives in Germany--In commenting on Soviet objectives in Germany, US Embassy Moscow notes that: (a) Germany, which has always loomed large in Communist plans, has been reduced by the war to a condition most favorable for the Kremlin's purposes; (b) Germany represents, for the USSR, the greatest potential threat or the most useful potential associate; (c) these considerations have convinced the Soviet Union that Germany must be included in the Soviet sphere; (d) Soviet control over Eastern Germany already has been partially effected; and (e) the USSR, therefore, will seek to maintain and strengthen its position in Eastern Germany, and to promote conditions in the western zones most favorable for the development of Communism and least favorable for orientation toward the West.

The Embassy believes that the US (a) must be prepared to accept further separation of Eastern and Western Germany rather than agree to a "hollow unification" which would facilitate the accomplishment of Soviet purposes in Germany as a whole, and (b) must actively support and defend democratic and progressive forces in the US Zone against Soviet infiltration and subversion. In the Embassy's opinion, the issues are such that the US delegation should come to the Moscow CFM meeting prepared for a long and tedious struggle. 25X6

6. ITALY: Allied recommendations for Fola evacuation--The Supreme Allied Commander Mediterranean has informed US Political Adviser Byington that, as SACMED definitely intends to retain troops in Fola until, but not after, the day when the Italian peace treaty is ratified, the Italians should begin any contemplated evacuation of Fola now. SACMED suggests that the Italians might use a Liberty ship acquired from the US, because the British forces do not have transportation facilities to assist the Italians (see Daily Summary of 2 January, 1947, item 4). He agrees that the Italian Government should be informed immediately of the extent of assistance available and of the length of time Allied troops will stay in Fola.

Communists uneasy about central and southern Italy--US Consul Florence reports that, according to "authoritative sources," the Communists are sanguine of success in the next elections but are uneasy about the political attitude of central and southern Italy where their Party is relatively weakest. They are expected to send delegates to organize Communist propaganda in those areas.

(CIG Comment: The Rightist parties have long been strongest south of Rome; Communist propaganda probably will not succeed in weakening them.)

7. FRANCE: Communist concern over Blum's anti-inflation success--US Embassy Paris reports that the Communists are becoming "increasingly anxious" over the popular success which their "enemy number one, Blum" is achieving in checking price inflation. As a result, they seem determined to destroy the equilibrium apparently established by Blum between prices and costs, unless their demands regarding participation in the new cabinet are met. They plan to inaugurate a "vigorous campaign" through the CGT (General Confederation of Labor) for a "vital minimum salary."

The Embassy also reports that Duclos, a leading Communist, has discussed with Herriot support for the latter's presidential aspirations in return for his assistance in gaining for the Communists as many important ministries as possible.

Sales of US arms to France for use in Indochina refused--The State Department has informed US Embassy Paris that the US cannot approve resale of surplus US munitions by the Belgians to the French because the French apparently intend to use them in Indochina. The Department adds that US policy, which in general approves sales of "reasonable quantities" of military supplies to France, specifically forbids sales "in cases which appear to relate to Indochina."

9. PHILIPPINES: Government not to open Legation in Spain--US Ambassador McNutt has been informed by President Roxas that the Philippine Government, in accordance with the UN decision against Franco, will not establish a Legation in Spain. The Philippine Government will inform the Spanish Minister, upon his arrival in Manila, of its decision and will give Spain an opportunity to withdraw him or to retain him with the understanding that no reciprocal action will be taken.

10. VENEZUELA: President desires US action against plotters--US Embassy Caracas reports that President Betancourt has repeated previous allegations that a Venezuelan revolutionary expedition is being organized in the Dominican Republic with Dominican aid (see Daily Summary of 18 December, 1946, item 10) and has expressed his belief that the US should take steps to prevent ex-President Lopez Contreras and his followers (now in exile in the US) from conspiring against the Venezuelan Government.

(CIG Comment: There is considerable evidence to support Betancourt's allegations. The Government's ability to put down a revolution has probably been weakened by unfavorable popular reaction to recent official revelations that it has been torturing political prisoners.)

11. BOLIVIA: Presidential candidates fail to attain majority--US Embassy La Paz has been informed by a high official in the Foreign Ministry that (a) it now seems apparent that neither Hertzog nor Guachalla will receive the absolute majority of popular votes required for election and (b) as a consequence the presidential election will revert to the new congress, the complexion of which is not certain.

GENERAL

1. US mediation urged in French Indochina--Abbot Low Moffat, Chief, Division of Southeast Asian Affairs of the State Department, has urged from Singapore prompt US action aimed at terminating the war in Vietnam so that the position of the US and other democracies may be protected in Southeast Asia. In his opinion, a hands-off policy looks like US approval of a French reconquest of Vietnam, which, even if successful, would engender such hatreds as to defeat French civil objectives and to threaten all Western interests in Southeast Asia. Moffat believes that a permanent political solution can now be based only on an independent Vietnam, and that the alternative would be a "gigantic armed colonial camp." He stresses the deep need for US moral leadership in this increasingly critical situation.
2. Dutch-Belgian agreement on a common German policy--US Ambassador Kirk reports that discussions between the Belgian and Dutch Foreign Ministers resulted in "substantial agreement" on the basic policy objective of a "politically federated but economically united" Germany. The two Governments plan to submit "coordinated memoranda" to the CFM deputies.

EUROPE

3. FRANCE: Opinion on Soviet foreign policy--US Ambassador Caffery reports that, according to informed French opinion, the Soviets have three main foreign policy objectives, and that every action presently taken is calculated to aid the USSR "in one way or another" in reaching these ends.

The first objective is the atomic bomb. The French interpret even Soviet "concessions" at New York as designed to that end. They feel that once the US has divulged its atomic secrets or destroyed its bombs, not only will the Soviets flout inspection and similar agreements, but will "go to town" on the second objective--Middle East petroleum--which the Soviets need themselves but also do not want the US to get.

The third objective, in French opinion, is Western Europe. The French, however, are now satisfied that the USSR is not planning "to move the iron curtain to the Atlantic" until the other two objectives have been accomplished.

Caffery notes that, while the French hold these opinions, they apparently do not "very often" have sufficient courage of their convictions to fight the Communists themselves. 25X1C

4. ITALY: Possible repercussions of De Gasperi's visit to US--US Embassy Rome considers as "exaggerated and alarmist" a view expressed 25X1C
[redacted] that the survival of the Christian Democratic Party depends on having Premier De Gasperi return from his current visit to the US "with something tangible to offer to the Italian people." [redacted] declared to an Embassy officer that Christian Democratic leadership afforded the best assurance that Italy would develop "along traditional European lines" (see Daily Summary of 3 January 1947, item 2). 25X1C

(CIG Comment: The Christian Democrats probably cannot remain in power for an appreciable time after the withdrawal of Allied occupation forces, because the basic movement of Italian politics is away from the moderate parties. If, however, the Premier returns without "something tangible," the decline of his Party will be accelerated in the immediate future.)

Chetniks and Ukrainians a problem in Italy--Supreme Allied Commander Mediterranean reports that, although the disposal of 9,000 Ukrainians who were captured in Wehrmacht uniforms and of 11,500 Chetniks in Italy is a British problem (of 18 months standing), it must be solved prior to Allied evacuation lest Allied prestige suffer. SACMED urgently recommends that the Chetniks be transferred to DF camps, the Ukrainians to Germany.

6. BULGARIA: US-Bulgarian relations--Foreign Minister Georgiev has told US Representative Barnes that "all members of the Cabinet realize that economic rehabilitation of Bulgaria is absolutely impossible without materials from the US" and that the Bulgarian Government is anxious for "re-establishment of normal relations with the US."

FAR EAST

7. CHINA: Embassy opposes sending Marine dependents--US Ambassador Stuart concurs with Consul General Smyth's opinion that sending US Marine dependents to Tientsin at this time is inadvisable because their arrival would give local Chinese the impression that US Marines were to be stationed in Tientsin indefinitely and would thus serve to increase growing Chinese resentment and hostility.
Report of US good-will mission to Tibet inaccurate--The State Department has informed US Embassy Nanking that a United Press dispatch, reporting the prospective departure of a US good-will mission to Tibet (see Daily Summary of 3 January, item 4), was inaccurate. The report was apparently based on the fact that eight Tibetan officials, visiting New Delhi 3 March, called on the US Commissioner with gifts and letters for the President. The State Department is disposed to send an officer to return this visit but has instructed Nanking to inform the Chinese Foreign Office that the US has no intention of establishing diplomatic relations with Tibet and would consult Chinese authorities before sending a mission to the area.
8. INDOCHINA: Position of Ho Chi Minh--US Consul Hanoi reports that French authorities have privately expressed a willingness to negotiate with Ho Chi Minh who, they believe, was opposed to the Vietnam attack of 19 December and is now a virtual prisoner of Vietnam extremists.

Vietnam forces are estimated at 51,000 well-trained regulars plus approximately 100,000 guerrillas.

9. BRAZIL: Pawley comments on US Latin American policy--US Ambassador Pawley, reporting on the opinions of high public officials and outstanding private citizens in Latin America as expressed to him through the period since 1945, comments that (a) "overwhelming sentiment" favors strengthening inter-American relations as opposed to "full and complete liquidation of past accounts"; (b) there is a "widespread desire" for adjustment of US-Argentine differences as an "essential step" towards hemisphere solidarity; (c) the former pro-Axis individuals within this hemisphere are "no longer considered generally to constitute a threat," and (d) Brazil and other countries are unable, "because of political considerations," to "repatriate their leading German citizens, many of whom have Latin American wives and children."
10. CHILE: Chilean official comments on new trade treaty--US Ambassador Bowers has been told [REDACTED] the Argentine-Chilean commercial treaty now awaiting ratification, that (a) the treaty implies nothing unfriendly to the US, with which Chile wishes relations "to continue as

3. INDOCHINA: Effect of Japanese on Vietnam resistance discounted--US Consul Hanoi reports that the French are explaining the bitter Vietnam resistance by the presence of Japanese in the Vietnam forces. Because the number of Japanese found dead or alive is insufficient to support this explanation, Consul O'Sullivan feels the opposition is due principally to the tenacity and courage of Vietnam forces in defending prepared positions and to French lack of infantry, and inexperience in handling armored units.

GENERAL

1. US asks three-power action on Polish elections--The State Department has instructed Embassy Moscow to notify the Soviet Government that the US is "especially perturbed" by the repressive pre-election measures employed by the Polish Provisional Government and believes that unless these activities cease immediately there is little likelihood of compliance with the Potsdam agreement for "free and unfettered elections." The US hopes that the USSR will join the US in reminding the Polish Government of its obligation to "enable all democratic and anti-nazi parties to take full part in the elections." The State Department is addressing a similar note to the British Government and plans, regardless of Soviet action, to reiterate to the Polish Government the US views on the elections.
2. US arms falsely alleged to be reaching Vietnam forces -- US Embassy Paris reports that the official newspaper of the MRP party has published a story from Hanoi stating that one of the most important sources of arms now in possession of Vietnam is US surplus materiel purchased from the US Government in the Pacific by buyers of all nationalities and sold by the latter to Vietnam. The Embassy has asked the State Department for the necessary information to refute the false statement that private buyers could obtain such arms.

Because the members of this parliamentary body were "hand-picked by the regime," the Charge considers their opposition "significant" and believes it "may precipitate a cabinet crisis."
  6. FRANCE: Future Communist strategy--US Embassy Paris reports that the French Communist Party has decided to participate in the next Cabinet rather than vigorously oppose it because Moscow "undoubtedly" desires primarily that as many Communists as possible hold high Government posts. The Department feels that in this critical time all loyal Greek political parties and leaders should unite to form a broadly based government "dedicated to moderation, all feasible conciliation to loyal opposition, and economic and fiscal reforms even though drastic in their nature." 2. Stone therefore recommends full US support of the following: (a) a strong and impartial governor in the Free Territory of Trieste; (b) significant financial assistance for Italy; (c) the release by the British of former Italian cables and cable terminals; and (d) the French proposal for Italian trusteeship over Italian colonies.
3. RUMANIA: Government relaxes restrictions on US visitors--US Delegate ACC Bucharest reports "numerous indications" that the Rumanian Government (with Soviet approval) is relaxing its restrictions against US visitors. He notes that 60 out of 75 requests for entrance visas, many of them pending for months, have been approved since 19 December. The Delegate believes that this reversal cannot yet be interpreted as a real change in over-all Government policy, but suggests that the Government may be attempting to remove the "stigma of the November election" by openly demonstrating its desire to solve its economic problems by requesting outside aid.

GENERAL

1. US air rights into USSR believed unlikely--US Ambassador Smith in Moscow has proposed to Molotov the reopening of discussions for reciprocal air traffic between the US and USSR. Smith reports that while Molotov appeared interested and amenable to the idea of discussions, it is very doubtful whether the Soviets will "go further at this time" than an exchange of traffic outside Soviet territory.
2. US cautioned against precipitating action on Baruch proposal--The US Delegation to the UN reports that the UK Delegate has criticized the US draft resolution calling upon the SC to act on the Atomic Energy Commission report "as soon as received." Cadogan warned that immediate pressure might "rush head-on into a veto." The French and Australian representatives have recommended a three weeks' delay to afford the USSR full opportunity to consider the implications of the recent approval of the Baruch plan by the AEC sub-committee.
3. US urges negotiations for opening of Dairen--The State Department has instructed US Embassies Nanking and Moscow to urge the Chinese and Soviet Governments "promptly" to consider the current unsatisfactory situation with regard to the status and control of the port of Dairen and to implement the pertinent provisions of the Soviet-Chinese agreement of 14 August 1945. The Embassies are to state that this Government perceives no reason for further delay in reopening the port "under Chinese administration" to international commerce. They will also express the hope that agreement can be reached "soon" for resumption of traffic on the Chinese Changchun Railway (the major railway system in Manchuria).

EUROPE

4. ITALY: US aid needed for Pola evacuation--The Secretary General of the Foreign Ministry has informed US Charge Key that the Italian Government is deeply concerned over the fate of approximately 25,000 Italians in Pola (which will pass to Yugoslav control after ratification of the Italian peace treaty). Key recommends US assistance in evacuating Italians from Pola, after the signing of the Italian peace treaty and before its ratification, because (a) the Yugoslavs can be expected to take "cruel and repressive measures" against the Italians remaining in Pola once Allied troops have been withdrawn; and (b) if the Italian Government has to remove these people in the coming weeks, it will be placed in the position of accepting the treaty before it is signed and submitted to the Constituent Assembly.

5. BURMA: Burmese demands in forthcoming London talks--US Consul General Rangoon has been told [REDACTED] that the Burmese delegation will go to London for talks in January and will present three demands: election of a constituent assembly; an interim government, and independence for the "hill areas" concurrent with independence for Burma. [REDACTED] if these demands are not met, Anti-Fascist League members will resign from the Executive Council, and Burma will be in such turmoil that "nobody could govern it."

6. INDOCHINA: Military situation--US Naval Observer Saigon reports that the French control the principal towns in the Hanoi area but little else. South Indochina has been stripped of troops, including some of the forces in the newly acquired border areas in Cambodia. High Commissioner d'Argenlieu, and the Commanding General of French Military Forces in Indochina are believed to be conferring in Hanoi on the possibility of dealing with some native group other than that of Ho Chi Minh, President of the Vietnam Republic, or of undertaking large-scale military action utilizing all French forces in the area.

THE AMERICAS

7. BOLIVIA: Higher tin prices desired--US Embassy La Paz reports that the Minister of Foreign Affairs has requested US support for a higher price for Bolivian tin on the grounds that (a) a "strong threat" to democratic government will develop if the miners do not get wage increases, which the companies cannot pay without higher prices,

(b) continuance of democratic government in Bolivia is a US interest, and (c) Bolivia aided the Allied cause during the war at a monetary loss when it could have sold minerals to Argentina at higher prices. The Embassy comments that "no other solution is visible."
